Goodrich DNA Project September 2014 Update

~ Delores Goodrick Beggs

The DAR (Daughters of American Revolutionaries) has recently announced a new path to membership through the use of yDNA results that may be used when paper connection records are lacking. This program has very specific steps that must be followed. Contact Delores at gfadelores@verizon.net for further information.

The Goodrich DNA project now includes 77 members and continues to grow. As new members join, the chances of discovering matches increase. You can check your DNA account from time to time to view new matches that may be of interest. To view new matches when you already have a number of matches:

Accessing Your Matches

You may view your Y-DNA25 matches on your website by following these steps:

- 1. Login to your myFTDNA account.
- 2. On the top menu bar, find the Y-DNA menu.
- 3. From the Y-DNA menu, select Matches.

The Y-DNA - Matches page has two sections. The top Filter Matches section is where you can change the testing level and filter for specific parameters. The bottom Matches section is where you can view your matches. To view your most recent Y-DNA25 matches:

- 1. In the Filter Matches section, change the For: field to 25.
- 2. Click the orange Run Report button.

By default, your most recent matches will be at the top of the report. You can read about additional settings for the Y-DNA - Matches page by clicking on the blue Page Help button at the top of the page.

You can view the current project yDNAchart on our Goodrich yresults tab at: http://www.worldfamilies.net/surnames/goodrich

In June, FTDNA updated the individual yResults pages on members' project sites with new haplogroup identifications – these new identifications have not yet been added to the chart.

The Descendants of Josiah Goodrich

~ Delores Goodrick Beggs with Donna Goodrich Alfieri

Here again is a continuation of records not included in the Case book, in this case missing descendants of #165, Caleb Goodrich (Gideon, Ephraim, William). Caleb and his wife Huldah Butler had ten children, of which the continuing lineage of only three have previously been recorded in Case, the continuing lineages of sons Othneil, Butler, and Oren. Thanks to descendant Donna Goodrich Alfieri, we now have added additional information on the line of #516 Josiah Goodrich, b. 11 Oct. 1773, m. Permelia Fisher. They had ten children:

Celia Goodrich, AKA Mother Goodrich

~ Annie S. Mabry

The June 2013 GFA Quarterly Newsletter had an article on "Mother Goodrich, Known as Ministering Angel, Passed Away at Deadwood." That article focused on the Celia Goodrich who served as a nurse/doctor to the gold miners of Deadwood, South Dakota in the late 1800s. One of my follow-up goals from the article was to locate where Celia was buried. Over the past few months, the death certificate and the burial site have been located. Through a series of typographical and indexing errors, locating Celia's death information proved to be very interesting. All of these errors were clarified and corrected.

Upon locating her burial site, a Cemetery Headstone Grant Application was submitted to the City of Deadwood Historic Preservation Commission. The approval was announced in May and the headstone was placed in July 2014! So, Mother Celia (Blackwood) Goodrich, the Ministering Angel to the gold miners of the 1890s will finally have a headstone to acknowledge her place in the Mount Moriah Cemetery and in the history of Deadwood, Lawrence County, South Dakota.

Another update is the submission of an application for the headstone for her husband, Thomas Goodrich. I actually submitted Thomas' application before submitting Celia's. His headstone application was initially denied for insufficient proof of residency in Deadwood, South Dakota. I located several Black Hills Daily Hills newspaper articles that mention Thomas Goodrich. I submitted those articles to the Deadwood Historic Preservation Commission and they reviewed the new materials at their June meeting for a final approval in August 2014. Thomas' remains have been buried in the North Potters Field section of Mount Moriah Cemetery and a headstone was placed at that time. Thomas is already listed on the Find a Grave website. I added a picture of his new headstone to that website. Pictures of both headstones are included with this article.

I wish to thank and acknowledge our GFA President, Delores Goodrick Beggs, who shared the initial article on Celia Goodrich with me. None of this research would have been completed without her sharing spirit. Thank you, Delores!

Advances in Y-SNP Testing in the Goodrich Surname Y-DNA Project

~ By Stephen D. Goodrich, Ph.D.

My kit [G18] in the Goodrich Surname Y-DNA Project finished a new Y-sequencing test, FTDNA Big Y, in Apr 2014. I also submitted a Y-DNA sample to Full Genomes Corporation and took their new Y-sequencing test, the FGC Y Elite, finished in Jul 2014.

Two donors taking a Y-sequencing test are more closely related if they share a greater number of SNP, INDEL, and STR mutations, and the average spacing of the mutations in years decreases, improving resolution, as the number of nucleotide base pairs sequenced in the test increases.

The historical barrier to Y-sequencing tests for genealogy was the limited number of nucleotide base pairs sequenced. In practical terms, the prior limitation in nucleotide base pairs sequenced caused the average spacing between detected SNP mutations (valued for their permanence) to be measured in thousands of years, which is more suitable for anthropology than for genealogy.

A prior Y-sequencing test, FTDNA WTY, sequenced about 230 thousand nucleotide base pairs per donor by 2011. By 2013, the base pairs sequenced increased to 15 million for Y Elite and 10 million for Big Y. Now the average spacing of the SNP mutations in Y Elite is 75-90 years. Tests of single Y-SNP markers found in a Y Elite or Big Y test are useful for verification.

[Y-descendant kits] of the immigrants: [G18] William-1 Goodrich of Wethersfield, Connecticut, [G23] Thomas-1 Goodrich of Old Rappahannock, Virginia, [G50] William-1 Goodridge of Watertown, Massachusetts share at least the following Y-SNP markers (in chronological order): E-V13, E-Z5018, E-Z16242, E-L1019. At this point in time: 1) E-L1019 is unique to Goodrich, 2) E-Z16242 is shared by [G18] and a single non-Goodrich kit from the 1000 Genomes Project, 3) E-Z5018, detected by the FGC Y Elite test but not detected by the FTDNA Big Y test, is shared by YFull online tree donors testing positive for E-L17 or E-S2979 or E-Z16242.<sup>4</sup>

[G18] has unique Y-SNP markers: 40 (Y Elite), 20 (Big Y). If [G18] shares at least one more SNP, INDEL or STR with [G50] (or other Y-descendant of William-1 Goodridge of Watertown), than [G18] shares with [G23] (or other Y-descendant of Thomas-1 Goodrich of Rappahannock), as could be determined if a Y-descendant of each takes the Y Elite<sup>5</sup> (preferred) or Big Y<sup>6</sup> test, the postulated ancestry is supported.<sup>7</sup> This technique is also amenable to those of unknown ancestry.

The G2 Generation to Generation Family Reunion including the Goodrich Family of Lawrenceville Virginia

~ Annie S. Mabry

Our bi-annual Family Reunion, G2 Generation to Generation was scheduled for the end of July 2014 in Richmond, Virginia. Attending this time were 133 family members coming from 11 states.

Our agenda included two classes – Estate Planning Basic: Empowering you to prepare for the inevitable as well as the unexpected at any age and any income; and The Gift of Reiki Healing. Each family group was given a family booklet with that family's pedigree chart, the 1940 Census information sheet of their ancestor and a kinship report to track how we are connected. We shared our family stories and did some line dancing to the tunes of our family member DJ Encore.

There was a bus tour to the Goodrich ancestral hometown of Lawrenceville, Brunswick County, Virginia.

- a. The first stop on our tour was the "Home for the Aged, Disabled and Infirmed for Colored People." Many of our Goodrich and Jones relatives worked there, were patients, or went to school there. This Home, and the Superintendent's home, are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.
- b. We also toured another National Register of Historic Places site, Fort Christanna. The Fort was established in 1714 by Alexander Spotswood, Virginia's Royal Governor from 1710-1722. Many of our relatives have performed powwows at this site over the years and some relatives lived on the 25 acre site. At least two of our Native American lineages, the Saponie and the Occoneechee tribes have continued to have their tribal rituals performed there. In addition to the Goodrich lineage, those surnames are the Carter, Easter, and Travis families.

c. The third local stop was one of the Reformed Zion Union Apostolic Churches of America. The R.Z.U.A. churches were developed following the Civil War. Many of the Goodrich family members helped to build these churches and many ancestors are buried at several of these church cemeteries from as far back as 1860s. The R.Z.U.A. churches were built to replace the bush arbors. [Bush Arbor explanation – Before the civil war, slaves were not allowed to have traditional churches, so slaves would wait until late in the evening to have church. Slaves would sneak off to the bush arbor (an area hidden in the bush) where they could not be seen, and worship the God of their own beliefs.]

Everyone enjoyed the camaraderie and fun; can't wait for the next one.

Our Immigrant Ancestors, Vol. 2, By Stephen Haynes, 2014

~ Delores Goodrick Beggs

It's been a while since I came across a fresh voice in Goodrich ancestry so I enjoyed reading Our Immigrant Ancestors, Vol. 2 by Stephen Haynes, 2014. Stephen has created an excellent new 186-page, 8 ½" by 11" volume of his ancestors that includes the ancestral families of Asa Goodrich and his wife Ruth Stratton, parents of Fanny Goodrich, whose story appeared in the June GFA Quarterly.

The lineages given in this genealogy include not only Fanny's line but also the ancestral family connections of six of the 47 families recorded in the noteworthy Hale House and Related Families by Donald Lines Jacobus (1887-1970), together with sources, notes, illustrations, and copies of old documents to support the information.

One thing I found of special interest was a 3-page listing, Appendix A, of marriages among cousins, all common on the list to William Goodrich and his wife Sarah Marvin.

Especially interesting are the "real life" tidbits and sources inserted among the facts. For example, "Matthew Marvin, father of William Goodrich's wife Sarah Marvin, is listed as a founding settler of two prominent Connecticut communities, Hartford (1635) and Norwalk (1650 or 51)."

This book covers the interweaving of both males and females of some 24 families including Goodrich. Among the ancestral families covered besides Asa's are those of William Goodrich and mother's side, David Goodrich and mother's side 1 and 2. A wealth of sources and explanatory notes are listed at the bottom of almost every page. Chester Eliphat Jackson, whose family story was in the June 2014 GFA Quarterly, is covered, and ancestral families of a number of women as well as those of men - Sarah Marvin, Sarah Edwards' mother's side, Rachel Savage, Ruth Stratton, for example, all listed in the table of contents.

The book is well illustrated throughout to cue the reader in to who, what, when and where. Diagrams throughout the pages assist in orienting the reader to both the lineage covered in a section and also to that family's location among the ancestral families. A further diagram for each section includes locations, dates and migrations.

Stephen Haynes has compiled here an excellent new genealogy resource, the first I have seen for some years, and I hope not the last. Interested persons can email Stephen with questions about the book at haynesmn@ix.netcon.com.
